STATEMENT OF PRINCIPLES

RIE publishes original, high-quality research on a broad range of topics in international economics. Each manuscript is reviewed in an unbiased manner and receives the utmost attention by the editorial office and its referees. Manuscripts are judged on the quality of their content alone, making the author's institutional affiliation, race, sex, age, and nationality irrelevant for acceptance decisions.

To maintain the highest standards and an ethical review process, the editorial office of RIE upholds, and also appeals to authors and referees to uphold, the following principles:

RIE has adopted a double-blind review process; it does not reveal the identities of either authors or referees to other parties in the review process. Authors are asked to write papers in a way that will conceal their identities from referees. To honor this principle, they should refrain from citing forthcoming or working papers. References to these papers that are deemed necessary can be added gracefully in the final version. Referees are asked to write their reports in a way that conceals their own identities from the paper's authors. While careful reports are valued, the referees need not prove the validity of their opinions.

A manuscript is submitted with the understanding that the substance of its content has not been published and is not under consideration for publication by another journal or book. RIE makes every effort to provide authors with timely reports from referees. Referees who return manuscripts within one month will be greatly appreciated.

INSTRUCTIONS TO AUTHORS

1. For submission instructions, please visit the Author Guidelines section at <http://wileyonlinelibrary.com/journal/roie>.

The submission fee is $100 for all authors. Submission of a paper will be taken to imply that the paper represents original work not previously published, or being considered elsewhere for publication. The editor does not accept responsibility for damage or loss of papers submitted.

2. The cover page of the manuscript should contain (i) the title and (ii) name(s) and institutional affiliation(s) of the author(s). At the bottom of this page, provide the name, address, phone and fax numbers, and E-mail address of the corresponding author. Include an abstract of not more than 150 words on a separate page. The first page of the text should not reveal the name(s) of the author(s).

3. Authors of accepted articles are required to transfer copyright of their articles to the publisher, John Wiley & Sons Ltd. Copyright assignment is a condition of publication. Papers will not be published unless the authors first assign copyright by signing a license agreement. Upon acceptance, the authors identified as the formal corresponding authors of their papers will receive an email prompting them to login into Author Services, where via the Wiley Author Licensing Service (WALS) they will be able to complete the license agreement online on behalf of all co-authors of the paper.

4. Page proofs will be sent to authors. Corrections other than the printer's errors may be charged to the author. A PDF offprint will be supplied to each first-named Contributor of his or her article. The Publisher shall offer the Contributors the opportunity to order additional offprints of their articles prior to publication, on the Publisher's current terms.
