Application to SDC for support for bilateral research activities 2017

The purpose is to continue my collaboration with Chinese partners, specifically to analyze new developments in China in 1) the national system of innovative entrepreneurship; 2) the innovative and entrepreneurial universities; and 3) the ecosystem around innovative entrepreneurs.

For 1) I have in October obtained access to the 2016 national survey of 3000+ adults, conducted by the Tsinghua GEM team. For 2) I have in October 2016 been obtained access to a survey of 683 universities conducted by the Research Center for Technological Innovation at Tsinghua. For 3) I have in spring 2016 obtained access to a survey of 3000+ innovative entrepreneurs, conducted by the Research Center for Technological Innovation at Tsinghua.

Innovation and social development in China and around the World

The team of Kent Wickstrøm Jensen, Thomas Schøtt and the Ph.D. student Shayegheh Ashourizadeh at University of Southern Denmark are collaborating intensively with Jizhen LI and his colleagues and Ph.D. students at Tsinghua. Indeed, our Ph.D. student recently spent a year at Tsinghua, and four Ph.D. students recently traveled from Tsinghua to take a Ph.D. course and work with Kent and Thomas. Our team is among the most prolific teams and among the teams with most China-Denmark collaboration, as is obvious from www.sdc-socialscience.com. Yet, when Shayegheh departs with her doctorate this summer, we are back to the two Danish leaders and a dozen Chinese collaborators. By this application for recruiting new blood in form of a post-doc, we intend to continue and solidify our research program at the forefront of collaboration with Tsinghua. Tsinghua, reciprocally, also wants to strengthen collaboration, and therefore generously offers to co-finance the post-doc for 8 months. The post-doc will work for 2 years, combining a 16-month appointment at University of Southern Denmark with an 8-month appointment at Tsinghua. During the 8 months at Tsinghua the post-doc will also teach in SDC's two social science programs. The period for teaching in Beijing has not yet been scheduled; rather, the period should be scheduled with the two HEPs. The post-doc will bridge the two programs in innovation management and in public management and social development. The post-doc will not only teach in both programs, but will pursue research spanning the two programs. The following pages specify, first, how the post-doc will strengthen the collaborative research project on entrepreneurial innovation in China and Denmark, in national regional and global contexts, including the context of social development, and, second, how the post-doc will strengthen teaching in the two social science programs in Innovation Management and in Public Management and Social Development. Then we propose an announcement of the post-doc position which should be posted on the SDC website and distributed to the SDC Ph.D. students. Then the budget is detailed. Finally we bring a letter of commitment from Tsinghua.

Phd stipendiater SDC

A Ph.D. position is available for research on entrepreneurial innovation in China in national, regional and global contexts, compared to Europe and specifically Denmark. The doctoral research is part of a broader program of research on people's entry and participation in entrepreneurial and innovative activity in new and existing enterprises, on organization of activity and enterprises, as embedded in networks around enterprises and entrepreneurs and further embedded in institutions and systems in society, and on performance outcomes, notably innovation and innovation-related exporting and expectations for job-creation and growth, partly a Sino-Danish collaboration utilizing the data available from the Global Entrepreneurship Monitor. The position includes studying and researching at Tsinghua University for at least 12 months during the study period and substantial teaching in the master's program in Innovation Management at the Sino-Danish Center for Education and Research.

SDC Phd kursus og workshop

This is a proposal for activities at Tsinghua University, -an activity on social networks, comprising a Ph.D. course, a paper development workshop, and publishing a special issue of a journal, focusing on social networks; and -an activity on innovation and social development, comprising a Ph.D. course, a paper development workshop, and publishing a special issue of a journal, focusing on innovation and social development. We suggest that SDC selects one of these two activities – either the activity on social networks or the activity on innovation and social development – for funding in 2016. Then, of course, we will happily apply for funding for the other activity in 2017. The purpose of each activity is to facilitate a process towards journal publication of SDC research in a special issue of a good journal. In each activity the kickoff is a Ph.D. course under the publication theme. The Ph.D. course is followed up by a paper development workshop in which participants from the Ph.D. course and others are encouraged to participate and develop a paper for publication. The workshop is followed by the process of editing the special issue.
